The Mystery of the Downs

Arthur J. Rees (1872 - 1942) and John R. Watson

“The storm had descended swiftly, sweeping in suddenly from the sea, driving across the downs to the hills at high speed, blotting out the faint rays of a crescent moon and hiding the country-side beneath a pall of blackness, which was forked at intervals by flashes of lightning. The darkness was so impenetrable, and the fury of the storm so fierce, that Harry Marsland pulled his hat well over his eyes and bent over his horse’s neck to shield his face from the driving rain”

When Marsland seeks shelter at a lonely farmhouse a mystery begins which only Private Detective Crewe can solve.
